Conn Maciel Carey Earns ISO 27001 Certification for Information Security

Conn Maciel Carey LLP is proud to announce that it has achieved ISO 27001 certification – a security-related benchmark issued by the International Organization for Standardization for managing security assets. It ensures that organizations have robust processes in place to identify, manage, and reduce risks to information security.

Background about ISO 27001 Certification

At CMC, protecting the confidentiality and integrity of our clients' data is of prime importance. Data breaches and ransomware attacks are on the rise for many industries and organizations around the globe, and law firms are no exception. ISO 27001 certification was a necessary next step to ensure that we are proactively managing and avoiding cybersecurity threats. The certification reflects that CMC's data security practices and infrastructure meet a globally-recognized standard for the protection of all types of business data, including electronic information, hard copy data, and third-party suppliers. This achievement further affirms CMC's investment in the security of our clients' information.

The ISO 27001 Certification Process

To obtain certification, CMC underwent a rigorous set of internal and external audits and process improvements to ensure its IT systems and data privacy practices met the requirements of ISO/IEC 27001.

This required the cooperation and participation of all CMC personnel including management, attorneys, and staff.

A Promise to Our Clients

CMC commits to its clients that it will continue to implement global best practices for information security management and ensure that proper policies and procedures are in place to secure valuable client data. CMC will maintain the ISO standard with ongoing evaluation, enhancement of our policies and systems, and implementation of innovative security solutions.

“We understand that to be a great partner to our clients, we need to treat their confidential business information like it’s our own,” says the Chair of CMC’s national OSHA Workplace Safety Practice, Eric J. Conn. “That’s why, despite being a boutique law firm, we’ve built a cybersecurity infrastructure that rivals any big ‘white-shoe’ law firm out there. We are so proud that our investment in information security has been recognized.” He continues “Just like we do in supporting our clients’ compliance mission, we see this as our duty to protect their interests from cybersecurity threats.”

Chief Operating Officer Mikel Koon says:

“This meticulous process was a vital investment for us to protect our clients. I am more confident than ever in the ability of our employees to keep our client information safe, based on the continued current training that we now require of all personnel.”
